

MANCHESTER MEETING

Manchester Cathedral

by kind permission

September 2017

Saturday 23 September 2.30 pm

A lecture by

Dr Sarah Boyer

The Parochial, Collegiate and Cathedral Church of Manchester and its music

A fascinating study of the musical history of one of Britain's most famous choral foundations

Sarah Boyer completed her first degree at Huddersfield Polytechnic, returning several years later to teach at the Technical College.

During this time she began work with David Fallows at Manchester University, looking at the music and musicians of St Paul's Cathedral during the seventeenth century, for which she was awarded her doctorate. She has continued to teach and write, and work as a music examiner. She is now semi-retired and living in Cambridge, where she is renovating a house.
